ROAD TRAFFIC LAW

With the number of speed cameras, and automatic detection devices increasing year on year, many people find themselves receiving correspondence from the police, and the Courts at some point in their driving careers. Meanwhile more and more individuals and families are relying on their driving licences to meet family, career and financial commitments.

In short, your driving licence has never been such an important asset.

Milne Moser Solicitors understand that protecting your driving licence can often mean protecting your family and your way of life.

ALL-ROUND SERVICE

If you are asked to attend the police station voluntarily following a road traffic incident of any kind, we can offer representation. We can also provide pre-interview, and post-interview advice in respect of the alleged offence and the applicable Police procedure:

- We can speak to the Police on your behalf, and keep you up to date with the case affecting you.
- If you receive correspondence from the Court with respect to the single justice procedure, we can provide advice on the evidence, your plea and on the mitigation you can put forward.
- We can advise you on the sentence you should expect to receive, including the likely number of penalty points and possibility of disqualification.
- If you are asked to attend a Court hearing, we can attend and represent you, providing invaluable support.
- If you have been convicted in your absence and therefore have no knowledge of the proceedings impacting upon you, we can help you navigate the options available to you, and help you to set the record straight.

OUR EXPERTISE

Milne Moser Solicitors have a long history of providing expert advice and representation in all aspects of road traffic law, including:

- Speeding
- Driving without insurance
- Careless and dangerous driving

Whilst some offences simply carry an endorsement on your driving licence, others can result in penalty points, or even disqualification from driving. Any matter that impacts on your driving licence may also impact upon your independence and your lifestyle, so we always recommend that you seek expert advice, and, if proportionate, representation.

We can prepare and present forceful arguments in Court with regards to the importance of you keeping your driving licence, and have successfully helped clients retain their driving licences when they may otherwise have been disqualified from driving.

WHAT WILL IT COST?

We can provide quotations for initial advice, assistance and representation on a private basis upon request. We can often offer a fixed fee for representation at Court.

Call us if you need our help with the Police or at Court, on 015395 62263.
